BY DOCKAHOY

Ahoy Mateys!

Believe it or not, we are ready to call it a wrap on a glorious boating season that provided much appreciated outdoor fun this year. The warm summer breeze and cool water adventures are coming to a halt as boaters start looking for storage and winterization for their prized possessions.

While some boating enthusiasts would be looking to take advantage of the pleasant autumn days, most boat owners will start planning for a safe home for their boats until spring next year.

GIVE YOUR MARINAS A TECHNICAL EDGE WITH DOCKAHOY

What's DockAhoy? It's a smarter way to manage your marina operation. Our cloud-based marina reservation system allows boaters to book a service online in minutes. It's easy to install software that offers all the tools you need to establish your business online in time.

The friendly tech-savvy people at DockAhoy work as your Technical Partners to help you go from paper to digital and expand your horizon.

That means businesses that offer winterization package and storage facilities will be busy booking inventory. You may have the best available boat storage facility but could still come short of having a full house if you fail to reach your customers.

In today's age and time, your business needs to go where your customers are, Online!

Give boat owners the freedom to book online anywhere anytime with DockAhoy.

As boats go into hibernation, this is an ideal time to go digital and rejuvenate your marina business.

Familiarize your business staff with Online Booking, learn the nitty-gritty of the intuitive marina management software in no time. See increased traffic for storage and winterization and get ready to see a flood of new customers for the next boating season.
